Therapeutic Action

Eyebright herb has been used since medieval times as an eye lotion, a specific remedy for tired, inflamed and watering eyes. Based on an old formula, this eyewash cleanses and strengthens the eye. It increases blood circulation to the eyes and will remove toxic waste in and around the eyes and reverse eye diseases. It will destroy bacterial infections also. It can be brewed into a tea for use as an eyewash, as well as taken internally. It could relieve the pressure of glaucoma, remove scar tissue on the cornea caused by infection, and remove cataracts.

Dosage

Mix 5-10 drops of tincture into an eyecup and fill it with room temperature distilled water. Hold the eyecup up to your eye and tip back your head. Open your eye under the solution. It will burn a little at first. Now do eye exercises while under the solution, looking left and right, up and down, circles left and right. Rinse out the eyecup and do the other eye.
